Nationality: Greek	Phone: +30 6980970012

PROFILE

A resourceful and self-motivated web developer, who is hard working and a quick learner. I possess strong work ethics and I am flexible as well as team orientated.
I am currently seeking for an engineering role where my existing expertise and qualifications will add value to the outset, whilst I continue to further develop my skills and knowledge in the software engineering sector. I am quite humorous and I like people who smile and are open. Generally I like solving puzzles and I think programming is just a more elegant and professional way of solving problems. I like electronic music and I try to produce when I have some spare time.

WORK EXPERIENCE

I 've given myself several tasks for the last two years and all of them have been successfully completed. I have no formal work experience but I am willing to try out new things, contribute to team work and always to expand my knowledge and skills for as much as I can. I am interested in the AI sector and I plan to engage as soon as possible.
